Varsity Variety Program Planned For Paramount Stage Tomorrow

80 Musicians Await Sardon's Baton At 8:15 Tomorrow

Over eighty talented young musicians from all over the United States make up the personnel of the Brigham Young University's symphony orchestra which will hold its concert Wednesday night.

Under the direction of Lawrence Sardon, the concert will begin at 8:15 p.m. in the Joseph Smith auditorium.

A premier performance of a concerto for clarinet and small orchestra by Leon Dalin, head of the composition department will highlight the program. Leon Hovey will be solo clarinetist for the concert.

"Symphony 88 in G" by Haydn; "The Molden" by Smetana; and "Carnival Overture" by Dvorak will also be included on the program.

This group of artists have toured widely and met with outstanding success wherever they have appeared. Last spring their tour took them to Northern California where music critics hailed them as one of the finest college groups ever to appear in that area.

First Musical To Feature J. Whittaker

The first of 14 student musical and variety programs will be presented on the stage of the Paramount Theatre tomorrow at 9 p.m.

This first "Varsity Varieties" of 1953 is called the "BYU Student Special," and will feature Jack Whittaker as conductor. Under the direction of the Student Program bureau, these weekly programs will result in the establishment of a $1400 scholarship fund for Brigham Young University students.

Representatives from all the states and most of the foreign countries will be presented as they arrive on the student special tomorrow night.

The program itself will feature singing, comedy, and band music. Jess Gibb, tenor soloist, and the Deltona trio will furnish the vocal music. The Deltonas are a girls' trio from Delta.

Comedy will roam in the form of Roy Lumsden, Jerry Long's combo also has a featured spot on the show, as well as a small group from the ROTC pep band. Janie Thompson will add a little punch to the program with a piano and vocal number.

Stage sets, which were constructed last week for the show, were lost in an accident in southern Utah on Friday. So new sets have been fashioned under the direction of Quinn McKay.

Breck Faght, manager of the Paramount Theatre, has made arrangements to place $100 into a scholarship fund each week. A similar type program was carried on last quarter that resulted in a sizeable scholarship fund.

According to Janie Thompson of the program bureau, some outstanding shows have been lined up for presentation at the Paramount on Wednesday nights.

COPIES OF DEVOTIONAL SPEECHES NOW ON SALE

Copies of devotional and forum speeches will now be sold on a "first come, first served" basis, according to Delta Phi, publishers of the pamphlets.

Speeches ordered last quarter must be picked up before Feb. 11. They are sold every Wednesday and Thursday in the Smith lobby.

Next Lyceum Dates Brilliant Violinist In Monday Concert

Maintaining the standard of performance and artistry achieved by previous artists on the season's lyceum program, Tosey Spivakovsky will perform in the Provo tabernacle Monday February 2 at 8:15 p.m.

A brilliant violinist, Russian born Spivakovsky has been featured as soloist with the greatest orchestras in the country. Among his noted performances are his appearances with the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra and the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra.

At the time of his debut with the San Francisco Orchestra, the San Francisco Chronicle acclaimed him the "finest violin player of a generation."

Units Urged to Select Banyan Queen Choice

1503 Banyan queen nominations will be decided by applications, according to Bob Carter, editor.

Social unit heads and independents are urged to enter their choices by 5 p.m. Friday, Jan. 30.

Candidates names, addresses and phone numbers must be in the same hour. Applications are available in the coordinator's office.

Entries must come in early in order to allow time for the final selection to be made.

Y Sets First Dental Aptitude Test Date

March 7 will mark the first time that pre-dental students will be able to take the dental aptitude test on Brigham Young University campus.

According to Vern H. Jensen, chairman of the testing division, all BYU dental students should consult their pre-dental advisor with regard to their status in taking the test. Interested persons should make immediate application to Mr. Jensen because it is necessary that all applications be in Chicago before Feb. 20, 1953, for the March testing period.

Publication Says Finding Of Archaeological Stone Favors Book of Mormon

Soon to come off the press is archaeological information which is the most striking evidence in favor of the Book of Mormon, says Dr. M. Wells Jakeman, head of the Brigham Young University archaeology department.

This evidence is a confirmation of Lehi's vision of the tree-of-life. The stone sculpture was found in 1941 by an archaeological expedition. None of those in the expedition knew the significance of the monument. The significance was not known until 1951 when Dr. Jakeman saw a photograph of the work. He has been working on his interpretation ever since.

This tree-of-life monument contains what Dr. Jakeman believes to be Lehi, Sam, Nephi, and all the other characters of the early Book of Mormon history. It also contains the straight and narrow path, the rod of iron, and many other descriptions from Lehi's dream.

It is carved in a rock five foot by eight foot and is about three foot thick. It weighs about four or five tons.

The information will be printed in the Bulletin of the University Archaeological Society which will be on sale beginning in February. Those wanting a copy may secure them for $1 or by joining the University Archaeological Society.

'The Drunkard' Will Reappear At College Hall

Some things seem to go over big at BYU—College Hall and "The Drunkard" among them.

The melodrama is set for a return Thursday at 8:15 p.m. on the College Hall stage after a successful three-night run there two weeks ago.

Started in the story of life and love in the Gay Nineties are Sharon Berrett, Nancy Dean, Kristi Nelson, Ralph Lundgren, Junius Hamblin and Bob Struthers.

Tickets can be purchased at the door and admission has been set at 50c for both students and adults.

The play will be presented as a benefit for a new University Theatre. Thursday's performance will also benefit the BY High band who have been invited to represent Utah at a Southwest Education Conference in Tucson in April. Part of Thursday's proceeds will be used to defray travel expenses of the band.

"We are very happy with the initial success of the play," Dr. Harold I. Hansen, director, stated. "And we are glad of the opportunity of presenting it again."

Scholarship Pends Autumn Quarter As White Key Gift

White Key, senior woman's honor, will award a scholarship for autumn quarter.

Tau Chapter of Lambda Delta Sigma now holds the traveling trophy which is awarded quarterly by the unit having the highest average grade point for that quarter. Both men's and women's social units and men's and women's Lambda Delta Sigma chapters are eligible to compete.

If one organization wins the cup for three quarters in succession, the trophy is theirs permanently.

Shirley Turner, White Key in charge of the trophy, urges all organization presidents to turn in their organization's grade point in to the co-ordinator's office immediately.

Pres. S. Dilworth Young Talks During Weekly Devotional Hour

President S. Dilworth Young of the First Council of Seventy will be the guest speaker at the devotional exercises this Wednesday.

President Young, the son of Seymour R. Young, was born in Salt Lake City on September 7, 1897. At Granite high school he was elected president of the student body in 1917. He joined the army later that year and served two years.

In January, 1920, President Young was called on a mission to the Central States. On April 6, 1945, he became a member of the First Council of Seventy.

President Young and his wife, Gladys Pratt, have a daughter, Leona. Their son was killed in 1944 while serving with the army in Belgium. President Young has always been interested in young people. He has been associated with Ogden Area of the Boy Scouts of America for nearly thirty years.

AWARDS OFFERED FOR BEST STORIES

Two short story contest awards are available to Brigham Young University students, according to the English department.

For the best short story in a western setting written by a girl, Elaine C. Carroll, former member of the English faculty, will give a prize.

The award of the late J. Martin Jensen does not limit the type of story submitted and it is open to both men and women.

Faculty members will judge the contests and winners will be announced in the spring award assembly. Stories should be between 1500 and 3000 words in length, and be submitted along with material for the spring quarter Wye magazine.

The store will be considered separately by the Wye editors for use in the magazine of the literary magazine.

FROM BEHIND THE COUNTER—Students who eat at one of the University's cafeterias sometimes think they have gripes, but these pictures illustrate that there are legitimate complaints coming from the other side of the counter. There are always people who can't find their money, and when they do find it, it turns out to be a $10 bill. And then there are the messes who never think to return dishes.

Work on Atomic Energy Is Open to Chem Majors

Brigham Young University seniors majoring in chemistry, physics or engineering are eligible for Atomic Energy Commission sponsored graduate fellowships in radiological physics for the 1953-54 school year.

Up to 75 fellowships may be awarded, with full-accredited graduate study to be carried out in three locations. One program is operated by the University of Rochester and Brookhaven National Laboratory, another by the University of Washington and the Hanford Works of the AEC, and the third by Vanderbilt University and the Oak Ridge National Laboratory.

Basic stipend for fellows is $1600 per year, with an allowance of $50 if married and $30 for each dependent child. University tuition and required fees will be paid by the Oak Ridge Institute of Nuclear Studies, which administers the program for the AEC. Additional information on the program may be obtained from sciences department heads or directly from the Institute at Oak Ridge, Tennessee.

IDEAS, PREJUDICES OF YOUTH SHOULD VANISH IN COLLEGES

Reprinted from the Amherst Alumni News

If we are seriously to argue that a college has done a grand job when it has graduated men who still believe as they did four years earlier, then it would seem to me that the whole argument might well serve as the epitaph of a liberal arts college which is in the last stages of decay. We ought to ask very seriously whether or not it is desirable that men graduate from Amherst parading the same ideas with which they entered.

Are we, or are we not, to hope that college will change its students and their ideas in many ways? And I am willing to enter the lists with the viewpoint that if all Amherst has done for a student is to give him some reasons for the outlook and viewpoints and prejudices which he has inherited from Papa and Westchester (or the East Side) then Amherst has failed with that student.

The only possible justification that I can see for the existence of a college is that it must instill that people change; it must induce them to let them crystallize their high school and prep school stereotypes into permanent attitudes; and it must help them to develop the newer, more responsible attitudes of adults. The college must goad its students, if need be, into keeping their minds open to new facts. One of the responsibilities of the college is to make the student bring those half-formed ideas out of the darkness of teenage prejudice and whim, and expose them to some rather glaring and honest light. . . .

If the students' minds haven't really changed in any noticeable degree, then graduation should be an occasion marked by the wearing of sackcloth and ashes rather than academic gowns, and the exercises given over to be mourning the fact that a lot of nice young men have just finished wasting four years.

Med School Exams Set for Applicants

Candidates for admission to medical school in the fall of 1954 are advised to take the Medical College Admission test in May. It was announced by the Association of Medical Colleges.

Candidates may take the MCAT on Saturday, May 8, 1953, or on Monday, Nov. 2, 1953, at administrations to be held at more than 200 local centers in all parts of the country.

Application forms and a bulletin of information is available from Brigham Young University pre-medical advisers.

Student Teachers Plan Wednesday Meet for Seniors

Seniors in elementary education who wish to begin elementary student teaching spring quarter, 1953 should meet in room 206-C at 4:25 p.m. tomorrow.

Instructions will be given concerning application for admission to elementary student teaching.

Four More Added To Local Chapter Of Debate Society

Formal initiation ceremonies were held last Tuesday by Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary forensics society. Four students gained membership in the Brigham Young chapter on the basis of forensics experience and academic standing.

Initiates were Geraldine Asplund, Lethbridge, Alberta, Can.; Bonnie Turner, Hillsboro, Ore.; Weston Edwards, Provo; and Earl McBride, Burley, Ida.

Proceedings were under the direction of Dr. Alonzo A. Marjay, Western Regional Director of Tau Kappa Alpha, Dr. J. LaVar Baumann, debate coach, and Dr. T. Earl Pardee, of the speech department. Two Tau Kappa Alpha members, Olene Smith, Ogden, and Weston Hering, Tremonton, also participated in the ceremonies.

Dr. Pardee spoke on the beginning of the unit, and how Justice George Sutherland, and Apostle-Senator Reed Smoot helped make Tau Kappa Alpha a going concern at Brigham University. Charter members include BYU president Ernest L. Wilkinson, and A. Ray Olpin, president of the University of Utah.

New System, New Jokes . . .

Cafeteria Swells Hips, Thins Pocketbooks, Evokes Jokes

by Eva Mae Peterson—UNIVERSE Staff Writer

"What, this stuff again? We started on this three weeks ago." "Look you guys, they swept the floor again; we eat."

"Was'a matter, they forgot to collect the garbage this morning?"

"Don't remarks like that make you just furious? I asked the exhausted girl behind the counter of Smith cafeteria."

"No, it doesn't bother me because they don't really mean it. Just slowing off, you know. Actually, they get better meals here than some of them did at home. The evening meal used to be the worst because that is when the football team would come in tired and famished. The fellows would actually throw food at each other and then complain that they were not getting enough to feed the mice in the bread box. Or, she sighed wearily. "Now we just tell the gripes that if they don't like it they can leave it. You see, this quarter meal tickets aren't being issued so students can buy anything they can pay for. This makes for better variety."

"However," she continued, "there was one thing that burned me up last quarter, the girl who came moaning, 'All that starch; I'm getting fat as a pig.' Then she would be the very one who would sneak back and try to invisite a second helping." I gave the gripes that if they don't like!

Banyan Policy Provides For New Students' Pics

Winter enrollees, who heretofore have not been pictured in the Banyan, will have the opportunity through a new policy announced by the publications committee and the Banyan office.

Because of the necessity of meeting printing deadlines and because of the cost of increasing the size of the book over that planned in the fall, this has not previously been done. This year it will be possible for the approximately 600 winter enrollees to have their pictures in the year book.

To insure that cost will be met, down payment on a Banyan must be made before the pictures can be taken. Appointments for the pictures should be made in the photo studio, 272 physical sciences building, before Jan. 30. The pictures will be taken Feb. 23. Presentation of Banyan order stub and activity card will be required before a picture will be taken. Yearbook orders are being taken in the Smith lobby and photo studio.

The final date for Banyan sales is Feb. 13. Total payments for space are due Feb. 2. Organizations claiming space discounts for 100% sales must submit their lists by that date. Organization activity pictures should be scheduled with the Banyan office.

Journalism Unit Here to Renew Annual Awards

An annual award to Utah newspapers will be renewed next month by the Journalism department of Brigham Young University as a memorial to one of the honored names in Utah journalism.

The late Harrison R. Merrill will be honored in the revival of the "Best Front Page" award for Utah weekly newspapers, according to Dr. Oliver Smith of the BYU Journalism department.

Professor Merrill was a former newspaper editor who founded the state's first Journalism school and conducted the Utah front page contest each year until his death in 1933.

Copies of Utah weeklies are now being judged for the award by a committee headed by Roy Wight, assistant professor of Journalism. Front pages of four consecutive issues during the last quarter of 1952 will be rated on the factors of attractive design, makeup, typography and press work.

The winning newspaper will receive the H. R. Merrill front page trophy in a formal presentation at the annual convention of the Utah State Press Association, Feb. 22-23 in Salt Lake City. Charles Claybaugh, publisher of the Box Elder News Journal, is president of the association.

Teaching Aspirants Are Told to Enroll

All prospective teachers should enroll at the Teacher Placement Bureau, room 235 Education building, Edgar M. Jensen, director of teacher placement announced recently.

"We find that some students have mistaken ideas concerning teacher placement," said Mr. Jensen and went on to say that the Teacher Placement Bureau is in direct contact with school superintendents and teacher employment agencies.

Mr. Jensen added, "Our close contact with all teacher training, and with all teachers, professors and administrators interested in teacher training makes it possible for us to give first hand information to people looking for prospective teachers."

Non-Resident Driver Permits Available for Out of Staters

The buildings and grounds department has been informed by law enforcement officers that the Highway Patrol is now giving special attention to the problems of legal operation of out-of-state cars.

The following notice, was made to all students during autumn quarter, is repeated below for the benefit of those who own or operate cars that are not licensed in the state of Utah.

All students may receive a non-resident permit to operate a motor vehicle in the state of Utah upon compliance with the following regulations.

Students must be residing temporarily in Utah for the primary purpose of attending BYU and must intend to return home after completing their studies. Their home state must exempt non-resident students from paying for the licensing of motor vehicles. They must have duly registered their vehicles in their home state and paid the taxes there. They may then obtain a certificate from the registrar's office stating that they are a student in good standing and must then present that certificate to the Utah State Tax Commission, room 162, Provo County building.

Every student who is a resident of Utah and every non-resident student who is in Utah for more than 60 days is required to have a Utah Operator's license before he may legally operate a motor vehicle in this state. This license may be applied for at room 161 County building. The cost is $2.

Vacuumatic Silence . . .

Texts Revered, Persecuted
In Own Peculiar Life Cycleby Earl McElride
UNIVERSITY feature editor

A textbook, assuredly, is a rather dumb contraption with peculiar life cycle. When books were devised ages ago, they were made to challenge the intellect. Since then, many publications have resorted to challenging the pocketbook.

Created as a puppet of a publishing company, a volume can't say anything the author didn't say in the first place. Regardless of the irrelevant limitation, the stamping of ink on a white surface seems to lend the writer's thoughts a mysterious sanctity in the reader's viewpoint otherwise not obtainable.

After being published, editions travel hither and yon to be resold in such institutions as self-service bookstores. Great stacks of bound references become accumulated in awesome edifices known as libraries. There, in the vacuumatic silence of the study room, scholars glean precious drops of wisdom from the open pages.

Printed productions are treated in diverse manners by professional beings. There are those who treat masterful verbiage with impunity, others who contradict it a few, who expand it, and some who regard each syllable as dogma.

Converse treatment of dusty, cobwebbed texts is displayed often by students . . . for musty volumes seem to be a boon to the landowner's electric bill, whereas worn, torn, underlined pages reflect a species of bedtime agitation between roommates.

At any rate, textbooks can be utilized either as a surrogate for the landowner's electric bill, or as a learning tool.

Big Cats Outclass Cowboys, Rams Taste

Pokes Feel Snarling Cat's Fangs

Riding high atop the Skyline conference basketball ladder, the Wyoming Cowboys made their invasion of the BYU fieldhouse Friday night and were thoroughly subdued by a flawless Brigham Young University quintette spearheaded by forward Dean Larson and center Boyd Jarman. The Cougars won the game by a comfortable 71-42 margin before more than ten thousand fans.

Jumping to an early lead, the Cats held a four-to-nothing advantage in the opening minutes but the visiting Pokes crew surged back and gave the Cats a rough go for the first quarter. Cougar reserves had trouble in hitting the hoop from the field through most of the first half and when the first half ended, they had but for only 21.7 percent of the shots from the floor while Wyoming had netted 33 per cent of their attempts.

Hustle, drive and scrap were attributes of all Coach Stan Watts' crew as they humbled the high riding Cowboy crew in the opening conference game of the season on the Y. court. Wyoming was boasting a perfect record of six wins prior to the Y game. The Cats had been beaten once by a good Montana crew.

Dean Larson, junior forward, was the big thorn in the side of the Wranglers as he continually stole the ball, rebounded and pressed hard on defense all over the court.

Working the fast break to perfection, Cats Richey and Larson made several sensational drives and left the Pokes rubbing his eyes. Harold Christensen hit on several jump shots and Nick Mateljan came through with 13 points for his night's activity.

Another bright light in the Provo sky was the play of center Boyd Jarman who entered the game in the second quarter. Jarman made several passes that had everyone fooled, with the exception of his teammates. His backboard work, blocking of shots and spirited hustle were outstanding.

Employing the double post to good advantage, the Cats began to move away from the visitors. Coughands early in the second quarter and the second half was all BYU. Coach Watts used substitutes freely in the last frame and each member of the crew that was called upon turned in a sharp performance.

FIVE AGAINST THREE—Five Cougars give Hal Christensen a bad time as Nick Mateljan and Dean Larson try to assist him. The Rams could not stop Chris and had a terrible time with Larson and Jarman. Cougar team work was excellent.

Woodward Tries For Seventh Win Tonight in SLC

John Woodward, Brigham Young University's promising young boxer, will fight tonight in the Coliseum in Salt Lake City. Woodward will fight Willy McCoy from the west coast in a match slated to begin about 10:30 p.m.

Wyoming's Top Spot In Peril This Weekend

Skyline conference basketball standings were a topic of interest on the Brigham Young University campus following the Cats' decisive sweep of two games last weekend. The Cats are currently in second place in the percentage column with a record of five wins and one defeat. Wyoming, the current league leader is carrying a seven and one record.

This week end, the Cowboys will be playing a non-conference game with Colorado State while the Cats play host to Montana and Utah State.

Revenge will be the gleam in the eyes of Coach Watts' crew as they meet the Grizzly aggregation from Montana. The Montanans were the only team to beat the Cats and the Cougars are itching for a chance to even the score.

Utah State, with a record of one win and three losses, are looking for a combination that would stop the potent Pumas. Utah, riding low on the loop ladder, handed Colorado A&M a loss last week and then dropped a game to Wyoming in the Utah fieldhouse on Saturday night.

Following this week's games, the Cats will have three remaining conference games on the home court.

"GOOSE'S GHOST"—Boyd Jarman gave hoop fans plenty to talk about last week. His passes, blocks and drives were spot; shades of the Trotters.

Rams Taste Furious Y Attack

Brigham Young's red hot Cougars completed their sweep of last weekend's crucial series Saturday night by out-running, out-shooting and completely out-playing a hapless Colorado Aggie five 75 to 47.

Led by Dean Larson, who could do no wrong, the Cougars began running away early in the second period and held a tidy 40 to 21 halftime bulge. During this run-away second period, Larson poured 11 points through the hoop. He was everywhere with tipped, jump shots and driving lay-ins.

While Larson was outstanding, it was again big boy Jarman who sparked the Cougar pull-away. Jarman came in just as the second period began, with the score 14-11 for the Y. Big Jar immediately faded beautifully, completely lost the Colags' Dennis Stuchin, and dropped in a lay-up.

From then until the end of the second period the Cougar cascade machine was unstoppable. The Gold Dust twins, Harold Christensen and Joe Richey, ball-handled beautifully, and with Larson shooting and Jarman feeding, clearing the backboards and tipping, the Cats racked up 26 points while the Colags were getting 10. Sherm Crump, who started his first game this year, got his share, too. The bespectacled junior from Sandy, Utah, collected eight points for the evening, and generally played a fine floor game.

The third period was pretty much the same old story. The Cougars again held Colorado to ten points while collecting 18 for themselves. At this point coach Stan Watts began calling the reserves off the bench. All fifteen men that were suited up for the game saw action, and while the reserves lacked the polish of the starters, Cougar fans should have no worries about the future.

Final game statistics showed the Cougars connecting with 34.7 per cent of their shots while Colorado A&M could find the basket but 24.6 per cent of the time. Dean Larson shot 14 times and hit nine of them, which should help explain his 26 evening's total. He also cleared the boards 10 times to top the Y in this respect, and all this in only three quarters of the ball game.

Salesmanship Seen As Moving Force

"Salesmanship is to make a person think as you think, feel as you feel, and to act as you want them to act," explained Mr. Elbert T. Curtis, general superintendent of the Young Men's Mutual Improvement Association, in forum assembly Monday.

"If it weren't for salesmanship," he said, "we would still be walking and still living in caves." "All of the outstanding inventions have first been opposed, and called inventions of the devil."

Mr. Curtis said the inexperienced salesman makes the mistake of promoting the good qualities rather than the benefits of his product. "We should remember," he added, "people buy benefits and pay for benefits."

Cafeteria

Surveying the varied array of salads and proteins, I noted that they did look delicious, and the students all seemed to be choosing wisely.

"Of course," my friend continued, "with the rain some hail must fall. Now we have to hold the line up while someone takes back two of her three desserts, for she found out after digging in her purse for ten minutes at the register that she hasn't enough money."

"I will admit that the prices are a little high, but I'll tell you a little secret: The competition from the snack bar may force us to cut the cost next month."

"Well," I called as I stumbled out of the line, "I suppose the students will show more appreciation now."

"I hope so," she grinned back, "we are doing our best."

STAGGERING—Hangover for the second week, "The Drunkard" is currently being revived for College Hall audiences. The melodrama is a speech department production, starring Junius Hamblin as the villain. A benefit performance is scheduled for Thursday at 8:15 p.m. All proceeds from the production are to go to the financing of the Brigham Young High School lands' trip to Arizona as well as equipment for the new Brigham Young theatre.
